SOCIALISTS HOLD POWER IN REICHSTAG

SCENES OF EXCITEMENT MARK
OPENING OF SESSION TODAY

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY THAT PEOPLE HAVE HELD THE UP-PER HAND IN THE GERMAN PARLIAMENT.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—The Reichstag convened today amidst scenes of excitement bordering almost on disorder. When the Kaiser arose and formally opened the assemblage in state, practically every member was in his seat, including every one of the 110 triumphant socialists of the left. It is the first time in Germany's history that the people's parties held the upper hand in the German parliament.

When the Kaiser mounted the rostrum to formally proclaim the session in order, the deferential silence known at the opening of other Reichstag was conspicuous by its absence, and cheers broke forth from both sides of the vast amphitheater. The conservatives of the right cheered the Kaiser because he is the Kaiser and the liberals of the left gave vent with shouts to their exultation over the significance of the event, which signified their first official existence as the real power in the German government.

A declaration in favor of world peace was the most striking feature of Emperor William's address at the opening of the Reichstag. The Kaiser advocated, however, the strengthening of the German army and navy.

On the radical side there were 110 socialists, 49 radicals and 46 national liberals, making the total of the left 205, which gives them a majority of 13 over all the others, including the clericals of the center. The national liberals are pledged by their party platform to support the conservative and the Kaiser on all matters pertaining to national defense, the army and the navy, but in everything else they will back up the radicals and socialists. Their representation of 46 members is sufficient to throw the majority to either side, and accordingly they are the real possessors of the mated fist in the Reichstag. Every measure they support is certain to be carried, as the line that separates the other parties is definitely drawn and the different parties will vote in solid blocks for or against every bill introduced.

A commanding figure in the assemblage was Dr. Ernst Bassermann, the national liberal leader. It is he who will dictate the acts of the entire Reichstag by his mandates to the members of his party. Herr Bassermann was cheered to the echo when, in his open carriage, he drove up to the doors of the Reichstag hall and mounted the steps, and another ovation awaited him within.

VETERANS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

APPROPRIATE EXERCISES TO BE HELD MONDAY AFTERNOON

SEVERAL GOOD SPEAKERS HAVE CONSENTED TO ADDRESS VET-ERANS AT THE METHODIST CHURCH.

Lincoln's birthday anniversary, February 12, will be observed by the veterans of the Civil war, those who wore the blue and those who wore the gray, with appropriate exercises to be held in the Methodist church next Monday afternoon.

A general program was made up at a mass meeting of the veterans of the blue and gray held in the city hall yesterday afternoon, and the details of the preparations for the program were left to a committee, which will render a complete report at another mass meeting to be held in the city hall at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The complete program will be arranged at that time.

The attendance at the gathering held at the city hall yesterday afternoon was larger than was expected and all the old soldiers were enthusiastic on the subject of the proper observance of the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

A number of good speakers have consented to take part in the program Monday afternoon and the exercises will be open to the public. Seats will be reserved for the veterans and their wives.

MILLS IN LAWRENCE OPENED ON FULL TIME THIS MORNING

OFFICER GOES AFTER KELLY WILL BRING HIM BACK HERE

JACKSONVILLE DETECTIVE IS WELL SUPPLIED WITH HAND-CUFFS AND IRONS FOR THE PRISONER.

Detective James C. Crawford, of Jacksonville, equipped with plenty of handcuffs, irons, etc., has gone to Cuba to bring back to DeLand James M. Kelly, the life convict who recently made his escape from the convict camp of the DeLeon Naval Stores company on the Daytona-DeLand road. It had been generally understood in this vicinity that Detective Crawford had gone to Cuba after Kelly some time ago, but it now appears he has been waiting for the necessary papers before going after the missing lifer.

Officer Crawford will take no chances on the lifer attempting an escape on the way back from the island, but will keep the criminal constantly in irons to prevent any such attempt. He will be turned over to the DeLeon Naval Stores company immediately upon his arrival at DeLand and returned to his place in the turpentine camp.

Kelly is the prisoner whom Guard Henry Smith helped to make his escape several weeks ago. Smith was captured in Key West, brought back to DeLand and sentenced to serve five years in the camps for aiding in the escape of a prisoner, and it was because of a mean trick turned him by Kelly that Smith told the officers that Kelly had gone to Santiago, Cuba. Kelly's arrest followed. He has been held in Santiago since the middle of January, awaiting arrangements to bring him back to DeLand and the arrival of an officer. Kelly is a desperate man, one of the worst criminals ever sentenced in the history of the state, and he will be closely guarded after being returned to the camp.

A. C. CROOM DROPS DEAD AT Ocala

COMPTROLLER OF FLORIDA
DIES SUDDENLY THIS MORNING

DEMISE FOLLOWS CLOSELY AF-TER THE SUDDEN DEATH OF
COMMISSIONER OF AGRICUL-TURE.

"Well, I suppose I will die that way, some day," remarked A. C. Croom, state comptroller, when told of the sudden death of B. E. McLin, state commissioner of agriculture, in Orlando the night before.

Mr. Croom dropped dead at 10 o'clock this morning in Ocala, according to a message received here today.

Mr. Croom was in Daytona at the time of the death of Commissioner McLin and was greatly shocked when he heard the news. He cut his visit short that he might hurry back to Tallahassee in time to attend the funeral of Mr. McLin, who was one of his closest friends. In connection with the death of Mr. McLin, the state comptroller remarked, "state officials sometimes die, but they never resign."

Mr. McLin and Mr. Croom were the two oldest state officials in point of service.

BETTER PAY LICENSE NOW AND KEEP OUT OF COURT

COUNTY SOLICITOR GETTING READY TO FILE INFORMATION
AGAINST DELINQUENTS NEXT WEEK.

County Solicitor Roy Hamlin was in Daytona yesterday and gave out the information that he is making preparations to file information at the next term of the criminal court, which begins next Tuesday, against all persons liable for the payment of licenses, who have not made payment up to that time.

The county solicitor says there is a large number of licenses still unpaid in this city, but that the payments have been pretty well cleaned up at the county seat. Payment of the licenses promptly may save an appearance in court for some Daytona citizens.

BANDITS USE DYNAMITE IN TRAIN HOLDUP

TRAIN CARRIED MUCH SPECIE
BUT ROBBERS SECURE LITTLE

EXPLOSION THROWS PASSEN-GERS FROM BERTHS BUT THEY ARE NOT MOLESTED BY THE ROBBERS.

MEMPHIS, Feb. 7.—Rock Island passenger train No. 43, bound from Memphis for Little Rock, was held up and dynamited by bandits near Hurlburt, Ark., early this morning. The train carried a large amount of specie, but the officials of the express company say the bandits secured but a small amount.

The explosion threw the passengers from their berths, but they were not molested by the robbers. The mail, baggage and express cars were destroyed, but the bandits were frightened away by the arrival of a switch engine and crew to ascertain the cause of the explosion.

The robbers made their escape away from the wrecked train, but a posse and bloodhounds are now in pursuit.

DICKENS DAY IS OBSERVED EVERYWHERE

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH OF GREAT AUTHOR

FUND OF MANY THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS RAISED ALL OVER
THE COUNTRY PRESENTED TO GRANDDAUGHTERS.

Today is Dickens Day.

Exactly one hundred years ago, on the seventh of February, 1812, Charles John Huffman Dickens was born at Portsmouth, England, in a humble little terraced house with wooden shutters. Twenty-four years later he was sending rare and wondrous laughter round the world, and onward from that great Pickwickian year of 1836 until his death in 1870, he gave to mankind an entertainment unequalled since the days of Shakespeare, and came closer to the hearts of his fellow men than any other writer from the beginning of time to the present day.

Charles Dickens has been dead over 40 years, but he has not been forgotten. What was said of John Brown, is truer still, far truer, of Dickens—"his soul goes marching on."

The century of his birth is being celebrated in all corners of the world today. Everywhere that English is spoken or read—and that amounts to almost everywhere—homage is being paid to the memory of the great writer and novelist. "From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand," the praises of the most-loved English author are being sung, his works are being read and re-read, banquets are being held in commemoration of him, Dickens plays are being given, memorial meetings are being held—his name is being exalted in every manner that could be devised by man. In England, in India, in Australia, throughout America, events are being given to make memorable the day.

Americans are doing their part in celebrating the Dickens centenary. They are doing more. For they are paying a debt—a money debt—that has long been owed, not legally, but morally, to the estate of the author. In practically every city of the United States contributions were found to pay a legacy to the five granddaughters of Charles Dickens, who have been living in poverty in England. Altogether about $20,000 has been realized from the sale of Dickens memorial stamps in this country, the money being forwarded by the collector of the fund, Joseph H. Choate, to London, where it was put together with the $30,000 raised there, to be turned over to the descendants of the writer today.

BLACK PATTI COMPANY HERE THURSDAY NIGHT.

Cook, Thomas J. Sadler, Morgan Prince, James H. Gray, Ruby Taylor, Emma Prince, Fanny Allen, and a chorus of dark skinned beauties.

HOTEL GUEST HAD SHOES AND CLOTHING STOLEN.
Thursday or Friday of last week a man applied at the Grand hotel on North Beach street, for a night's lodging, without means and was given a room. He left the next morning before breakfast and it later developed that he carried with him two suits of clothes, a pair of shoes, other articles of clothing and a couple of trunks belonging to Charles Lambrecht, a regular guest at the house. Mr. Lambrecht, who is employed as a chauffeur, left this room early in the morning, without closing the door, which was opposite that of the night lodger. The fellow left in place of the clothing some articles of women's wear. He had with him a long suit case made for women's clothing which enabled him to pack away considerable stuff. He gave no name, but a tablet left by him on the dresser contained the name, C. R. Thomas. Mr. Lambrecht did not discover his loss until the following evening, too late to try to overtake the thief.

Of course men have their little worries and troubles, but they don't have to go to bed at night after night with their faces smeared with complexion ointment—Galveston News.

Multiplying by Machinery.

The clerical staffs of many of the big insurance companies have of late years been considerably reduced by the employment of mechanical calculators. One of these, the invention of a German, is a compact little affair resembling a wooden box. It may be made to perform almost automatically the more tedious sums in addition, subtraction, multiplication by one or two figures, division, squaring and cubing. It is required, for instance, to multiply 541,923 by 124. The first factor is set by touching the little knobs representing 541,923. To multiply by the other factor you turn a handle four times, push along a slide one place and turn the handle twice, then push the slide another place on ward and push the handle nine times. The last multiplication is now done without a possibility of error so far as the machine is concerned, and the digit shows 67,188,392. In the mechanical way may be done all the other arithmetical processes—London Globe.

Strange Timekeepers.
To ascertain the time at night the Apache Indians employed a sword on which the stars of the heavens were marked. As the constellations rose in the sky the Indian referred to his sword and found out the hour. By turning the sword around he could tell the order in which the constellations might be expected to appear.

The hill people of Assam reckon time and measure by the number of quills of birds cut off. It will be remembered how according to Washington Irving the Indians of the Americas were ignorant of the value of the last foot of the third rope of the house of Governor Worcester Van Twiller.

A Montserrat Indian of Canada will set up a tall stick in the snow when traveling ahead of friends who are to follow. He marks with his foot the line of shadow cast, and by the change in the angle of the shadow the coming party can tell on arriving at the spot about how far ahead the leader is.

Fighter of the Family.
The tough little boy with the red hair and freckled face pushed up against the best little boy and said impudently:

"My sister can lick your sister."
The best little boy did not argue the matter.

"And my big brother can lick your big brother."
The good little lad winced.

"And my ma can lick your ma."
The quiet lad shifted from one foot to the other.

"And my pa can lick your pa."
There was a flash of pink shirt waist, the sound of some hard object coming in contact with a spongy substance, and the quiet little lad stood triumphantly over his adversary, quietly waiting for him to push his nose back into the center of his face where it belonged.

"But just remember this," he observed quietly, "you can't lick me!"—Youngstown Telegram.

Observe your enemies, for they first find out your faults—Antisthenes.

COMMISSIONERS SHOULD LOOK AFTER SPRUCE CREEK BRIDGE

DRIVER OF AUTOMOBILE SAYS
 CONDITIONS THERE ARE BAD
 AT PRESENT AND BECOMING DAILY WORSE.

Editor Daily News:—The county commissioners should be notified and warned regarding the condition of the bridges at Rose bay and Spruce creek.

At Rose bay the water has undermined and washed away the filling to a depth of four or five feet to a point within eighteen inches perpendicularly under the rut where hundreds of automobiles run daily. This margin of eighteen inches is growing smaller each week. Some day, and I fear very soon, a heavy automobile with seven passengers may push off the eighteen remaining inches of soft earth and a fatal accident may result. In addition to the horrors of such an accident the county commissioners might be liable for payment of heavy damages, as such damages are usually assessed by juries in the north.

A dredge should be put to work without a day's delay to fill the whole bridge to the pilings. About a month ago a dredge came in there and threw a few shovelfuls into one of the many holes, then went away.

The whole Spruce creek bridge should be widened to twenty feet on top and with an easy slope to the marsh. The county has just collected from $3,000 to $5,000 annual tax on automobiles. There is a serious question as to the legality of the tax, which a court has declared to be unconstitutional in another Florida county, but I hope the money will be laid out on these two bridges immediately, and before some serious accident occurs.

At the second wooden span going south over the Spruce creek bridge there is a hole in the earth next to the wood, large enough for a man to crawl through down to the water. It is just between the tracks and right where a horse would step through and break a leg. If it continues to cave away an automobile will soon fall through.

There is another bad place in the road one and a quarter miles south of Port Orange, on the road to New Smyrna. A short culvert which was shabbily rebuilt a few days ago has already sunken down eight or ten inches and it goes still further down when an automobile strikes it. A serious accident may happen there some day.

The Sabbath school was organized last Sabbath at the Congregational church, Seabreeze. Both the Sunday school and congregations are larger than last year and the work is very encouraging. Nerves of Genius.
 Many of the men whose names we revere today in science, art, literature and poetry suffered from emotional disturbances, resulting in nerve storms or outbursts of mental violence, which can only be described as super-gut mania. The poet Cowper had strong suicidal tendencies, yet he wrote "John Gilpin" when suffering from intense melancholia. Shelley had an insane ancestry, and at Eton he was called "Mad Shelley." Charles Lamb had to be placed in an asylum, and his sister Mary stabbed her mother to the heart while insane. Wordsworth and his sister Dorothy are almost a parallel to Charles and Mary Lamb. At the age of thirty Coleridge was broken down, and he died a wreck at sixty-two. Southey came of an insane stock. The mother of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the dramatist, died demented at forty-two. Pope was deformed and rickety, and Keats was neurotic to his finger tips. Byron's mother was unbalanced, and so was his maternal grandfather.—London Globe.

Value of Deep Breathing.

Writing on the cultivation of physical fitness in the Herald of the Golden Age, Eustace Miles says that those who have mastered the art of deep and full breathing are thereby enabled to master their emotions—they can overcome pain and secure control of the mind and of the circulation of the blood. The control of the breathing prevents one from becoming hurried and flurried, and one acts leisurely, although not lazily. Breathing can be adapted to various needs—for instance, in producing warmth or the opposite effect—or one can breathe in order to become more sensitive. In fact, the all round value of deep and full breathing cannot be overestimated. Of all physical practices this is the first and foremost and one that can be regulated without being in the least conspicuous. If you have learned how to breathe deeply and fully people may not suspect it—they only notice that you are calm, poised and good tempered.

ENTERTAINED MEMBERS OF COBURN MINSTREL TROUPE.

Several members of the Coburn minstrel troupe, availing themselves of an open date last Friday and Saturday, chose Daytona in which to spend their brief vacation and renew the many friendships formed on their annual visits here.

Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilder entertained the boys on Saturday night with a farewell dinner and were ably assisted by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith. The guests were Leslie D. Barry, Allen Settle, J. C. McCarthy, Geo. W. Brandman, Dick Teitge. At midnight, among many repetitions of "Auld Lang Syne," the members of the party left to join their troupe in Sanford.

TEN YEARS AGO.

From the Gazette-News, of Feb. 8, 1902.

A movement was then on foot to build a Christian church in Daytona.

One mile of road between Daytona and Ormond had just been marled; Valley street, Seabreeze, had just been marled and repaired.

F. W. Maley met with a bicycle accident the previous week that resulted in a broken arm.

At the meeting of the board of county commissioners that week F. E. Bond, T. L. Rodgers and T. J. Murray were appointed a committee to confer with the owners of the various bridges over the Halifax and Hillsborough rivers with a view of getting a uniform rate of tolls adopted by the various bridges.

Benjamin Mason, an early settler of this city, and Miss Lola Roberts, were married at East Palatka the preceding Sunday.

If These Towns

with the best of fire-fighting equipment can burn why not Daytona?

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The fire in the Equitable Life Assurance company's building, which started yesterday morning and gutted the big granite and marble structure, is still burning today and the city firemen are working hard to subdue the flames.

Between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 worth of securities are locked in the vaults of the big building and the vaults in the ruins are being strongly guarded by a cordon of police.

It is now known that seven lives have been lost in the fire and others may be in the ruins.

The Equitable officers declared today that none of the policyholders will lose a cent because of the disaster. By hard work the firemen have been able to keep the blaze from spreading to other structures in the vicinity.

Big Plant Destroyed—
 EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Jan. 10.—Three acres of buildings comprising the plant of the Commercial Acid company two miles south of this city were destroyed by fire this morning. The cause of the blaze was an explosion and the loss will amount to $200,000.

Boston Tenement Burns—
 BOSTON, Jan. 10.—The four-story tenement building at No. 10 Willard street burned this morning. Two women and one man, all Italians, were burned to death and many were rescued from death by the forming of a human chain to a nearby building.

Many Buildings Burned—
 BERKLEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Two business blocks, five residences and a church were destroyed by fire here this morning. The blaze originated in a bakery and the total loss will reach $150,000.

Bad Fire in Chicago—
 CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—The warehouse of the Creamery Package Manufacturing company on West Kinzie street was destroyed by fire this morning with a loss of $100,000. In the Northland hotel, next door, 400 guests were thrown into a panic and all were driven out into the streets in the zero weather when the roof of the hotel caught fire.

40 PER CENT. OF CONVICTS IN ALABAMA WORK FOR STEEL COMPANY.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Details of the conditions in the plants of the United States steel corporation in the south were laid before the Senate committee of the house today by Special Investigator or Harrison of the Survey magazine.
The report covered convict labor in particular and Mr. Harrison declares that 40 per cent. of the convicts in Alabama are used by the steel corporation, the laws making trivial acts violations that the ranks of the convict laborers might be swelled.
He cited a case where 123 convicts were killed by an explosion in the Birmingham mining district, suffering practically the death penalty for their sentences as the result of some trivial offenses.
The attorney for the steel corporation said the company will make no new contracts for convict labor when the present contract expires.

HORSE COMMITTED SUICIDE
TUESDAY EVENING.
A horse owned by Jim Taylor, colored, committed suicide Tuesday evening by walking down the railroad track, just south of the water tank, before the Atlantic Coast Line train, due here at 5:56 p. m.
Taylor had, it is said, left the horse standing on First avenue, while he entered a house in company with a passenger he had cirried to the place in his surrey. The horse wandered to the railroad crossing and turned down the track, just ahead of the south bound train. An attempt was made by the engineer to avert striking the horse and carriage and the passengers wondered what brought the train to such a sudden stop. The horse was killed outright and the surrey was completely wrecked.

MRS. DAGGETT PASSED
AWAY THIS MORNING.
Mrs. Ida Z. Daggett, widow of George E. Daggett, passed away
this morning shortly before noon, after an illness of many weeks' duration, aged 60 years.
Mrs. Daggett came to Daytona about seven years ago, from Harrisburg, Pa., in company with her husband and one daughter, now Mrs. Leon H. Rowe, and has since resided here, owning a comfortable home on Fairview avenue.
Mr. Daggett died about four years ago and since that time Mr. and Mrs. Rowe, who were married five years ago, have made their home with her on Fairview avenue. Mrs.
Rowe, who is the only surviving child of the deceased, will have the sympathy of a host of friends in this city and elsewhere, in this time of sorrow and bereavement.
The funeral service will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the late home on Fairview avenue and will be private except to immediate friends and relatives. Interment will be made at Pinewood, beside the remains of her husband in the family lot.

Story of Chicago Physician.
A prominent physician tells this story: A poor woman went to a nearby dispensary to ask aid for her little son who had one of his fingers smashed with a baseball bat. At the first room where she applied a curt attendant told her that the boy could not be treated there. "Wrong place," he explained, "this is the eye and the ear department." "Very is der thumb and finger department?" inquired the woman, simply.

The Useful Verb "To Jet"
There is no word, long or short, in the English language capable of performing so much labor in a clear, intelligible sense as the verb to jet. And here is an old time specimen of its capabilities:
"I got on horseback within ten minutes after I got your letter. When I got to Canterbury I got a chaise for town, but I got wet through before I got to Canterbury, and I have got such a cold as I shall not be able to get rid of in a hurry. I got to the treasury about noon; but, first of all, I got shaved and dressed. I soon got into the secret of getting a memorial before the board, but I could not get an answer then. However, I got intelligence from the messenger that I should most likely get one the next morning. As soon as I got back to my inn I got my supper. When I got up in the morning I got my breakfast and then got myself dressed that I might get out in time to get an answer to my memorial. As soon as I got it I got into the first chaise and got to Canterbury by 3 o'clock, and about tea time I got home."—Ave Maria.

Wellington's Subtle Retort.
Wednesday, 18th October, 1871.—Lord Fitzgerald made us laugh at dinner
today with a story about John Wilson Croker, whose pertinacity of opinion is well known. He was laying down the law after dinner to the Duke of Wellington and, according to custom, asserting the superiority of his own information on all subjects, having even flatly contradicted the duke, who had mentioned some incident that had taken place at the battle of Waterloo.
At last the conversation turned upon the use of percussion caps for muskets of the army when Croker again maintained a directly opposite opinion to that which was urged by the duke, who at last roared humorously said to him, "My dear Croker, I can yield to your superior information on most points, and you may know a great deal more of what passed at Waterloo than myself, but as a sportsman I will maintain my point about percussion caps."—Thomas Raikes' Journal.

The Larch in Labrador.
The soil and atmosphere are so cold and dry in faraway Labrador that scarcely any vegetation thrives at all.
The larch is a species of pine tree which is found in all northern countries, but its growth is so stunted in Labrador that a specimen found on the most southern part of that dreary land was but nine inches in height and the trunk was but three-eighths of an inch in diameter. A careful examination of the miniature tree revealed its age to be at least thirty-two years, for there were that number of ring growths shown in its small trunk. The very cold currents pouring down from the north and the fact that Labrador has less sunshine than Alaska, together with several inland climatic conditions, make the summer seasons shorter and colder than are those of Alaska.—Exchange.

Knew His Man.
George Bubb, better known as Bubb Doddington, one of the wits of the eighteenth century, always dined well and always liked to doze after the repast. Falling asleep one day after dinner with Sir Richard Temple and Lord Cobham, the latter reproached Dod-dington with his drowsiness. Doddington denied having been asleep and to prove he had not offered to repeat all Lord Cobham had been saying. Cob-ham challenged him to do so. Dod-dington repeated a story, and Lord Cobham owned he had been telling it.
"Well," said Doddington, "and yet I did not hear a word of it, but I went to sleep because I knew that about this time of the day you would tell that story."
